The Citizen.

HERE AND THERE.

So many Bloomfielders are finding out all the delights of that wonderful place called "There." They know all about "Here," and now they are "spending the summer there," or "going there next week," and Utopian bliss is nothing in comparison with the happiness they expect to find "There," in those beautiful places where for a little restful while they can forget "how full of briers is this working-day world," and remember only that "the whole sweet earth is their inheritance.

* * *

The world belongs to men and women, but the earth that the poet means is for children alone, and some of them found it so last Tuesday. They came out from New York, ever so many of them, weary, pale-faced little people to whom "the country was close under heaven." The children of the Glen Ridge Church were their entertainers, and out in the woods they went, picnic-fashion, for one happy day. In all innocence they ate and drank and were merry. Such quantities of food disappeared! It was really alarming to contemplate the possibilities of the future. But even hungry little city children cannot eat forever, and one small chap on economy intent, remarked as one of the gentlemen paused with a tempting morsel of cake before another infinitesimal boy "Don't give him that. Taint no use, he'd just fire it around."

There were wiser heads to direct, but no kinder hearts than those of the little hosts, and when the last load of mothers and babies and flowers had vanished, undoubtedly everyone felt repaid.

* * *

Before we find our way down the hill, we must mention that Mrs. W. T. Howe and Mrs. Edward Howe leave on Saturday for Kennebunkport, Maine.

* * *

Miss Grace Hurlbut of Hartford, Conn., is visiting Miss Helen Bliss.

* * *

Mrs. C. F. Harrison and family, with Miss Causey have returned to town

* * *

Miss Helen Goodwin, of Bethlehem, N. Y., has been visiting Miss Duffield.

* * *

What a great convenience our new bank has become already, and how very fine it looks with its name emblazoned on the windows! The tradesmen of the Centre are particularly pleased because they no longer are expected to cash checks as they have kindly done so long for us.

The checks issued by the bank are particularly neat and tasteful. Somebody deserves credit.

* * *

Another new house on Franklin street! Well, houses must go up, we suppose, even if trees go down, but it's very sad.

* * *

The music at both of the Presbyterian churches has been very good lately. Miss Rundell has been singing at Westminster, assisted by a choir, and probably none of them know all the pleasant things that have been said about them.

At the Old Church on Sunday evening the music more than made up for heat and the effort of going anywhere.

* * *

A story once went the rounds of the newspapers and made some converts to the doctrine. It ran in this wise: The mighty Jove had just finished the creation of a strange insect with a complicated organism and had called this creature a mosquito.

But as the father of gods and men contemplated the work of his hands it occurred to him that he had made nothing fit for the food of this his last and greatest work.

Thereupon he made a man.

* * *

And speaking of mosquitoes, Burdette has something to say on "midsummer madness" in general, and the woes of the woman who goes to the seashore in particular.

"Her room is a cell a fathom long,
Her bed a thing of fears,
Where all night long the merry song
Of the midnight bird she hears.
And her lord he lies in a hallway lone
On a sleep-destroying cot,
Where she hears him groan in a wrathful tone,
'B—(Hush!)—Its—('sh Hush!) hot!'
And all this time in their home in town
A mansion of cold gray stone,
There are peaceful glooms in seventeen rooms
Where the burglar sleeps alone."

* * *

"A lack of energy in hot weather is to be expected, but there is no funnier sight in town than that of the lordly dog who goes around calmly day after day in a little express wagon drawn by a patient, long-suffering baby boy who works hard to give satisfaction and never smiles.

* * *

One of the dwellers on Franklin street the other morning poured his woes into the sympathizing bosom of the Humble Individual.

"If you want to spend a real lively night," he said, almost with tears, "you just want to come and visit me. The other night when I was sleeping like an infant and dreaming of angels and all that sort of thing, I heard sounds of minstrelsy that made me shudder to listen. I thought it was someone's huge mistake and I was being serenaded—that the spirit had his feet had led him'—who knows how?—To my chamber window, and—etc.

"I felt like Josiah Allen under similar trying circumstances. I arose and looked out. Against the fence leaned my serenader—a bacchanalian reveller who was piteously but melodiously imploring somebody to "put his little shoes away." Then he broke into subdued mirth and informed whom it might concern that "mother was near," and that therefore therefore there was no immediate cause for alarm.

Then the passer-by appeared on the scene and forcibly demanded in language whose beauty was unadorned that the singer should "shut up," whereat the singer spoke in a grieved and spirituous voice and wished to know "why the gentleman didn't want to hear him sing," and intimated that his critic was the victim of a perverted taste. Then the second passer came along and a lengthy conversation ensued, which ended, after nearly half an hour, in the departure of the three, my musical friend being supported on both sides by the others and calling heaven to witness that he hadnt been home since the day before yesterday and went now only to please his attentive escorts.

Then after he was safely out of the way, and all known devices for inducing sleep had failed, the cats began, and once more I recalled Josiah and took courage.

Everybody knows what cats are after dark and there's no need of making it any worse. I can stand dog-days if they aren't followed by cat-nights. Don't you want to make me a visit? I'm sure you would find it entertaining and it goes on pretty frequently." The prospect was alluring, but, as yet, the invitation hasn't been accepted.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Lee Stout leave on Saturday to join Mr. and Mrs. Wright Stout at Spring Lake.

Mr. Malcolm P. Nash has returned home from a long cruise, expecting to remain a few weeks.

Miss Morris's Musicale.

The social affairs of Morris Place often suffer immensely from want of kindly attention from the Humble Individual who conducts the 'Here and There" column of THE CITIZEN. Had the H. I. been here on Tuesday night, he might have had the pleasure of enjoyment as well as the satisfaction of having "something to say" about us. But as time is hastening toward press day, as a self-appointed "substitute," I will say that the event alluded to was one that all the friends of THE CITIZEN would have enjoyed.

The occasion was the closing of Miss Genevieve Morris's class in music for the summer months. Her pupils, Master Maurice Haskell, and Misses Fannie Madison, Edith Walker and Mamie Brown were the performers, and well they entertained their friends with the results of the year's study. Without exception they reflected credit on their teacher, and showed that a good foundation had been laid for more difficult performances in the future.

The after-part of the program consisted of dancing, games, and refreshments, all of which was entered into with zest by the juveniles and children of a larger growth.

The Public Schools.

The School Trustees met on Monday night, The reading of the specifications for plans of the new Berkeley school-house presented by architects Joseph K. Oakes and F. T. Camp was concluded. The Building Committee were authorized to procure approximate estimates for building in accordance with the respective plans. A flagstaff for the flag presented to the school by Wm. S. Pierson Post was ordered procured. The Building Committee were authorized to make the necessary repairs and improvements to the school buildings during the vacation term.

The call for the annual meeting for voting appropriations of school money has been issued by the District Clerk. The Trustees recommend the following amounts: For current expenses, $9,500; payment on mortgaged indebtedness, $3,000. An appropriation of $800 will be asked for with which to purchase additional property adjoining Berkeley school lot.

The Teachers' Committee have arranged the corps of teachers for the ensuing year as follows:

Mr. John B. Dunbar,		Principal
Miss Ella L. Draper,	Assistant in High School
" Willetta J. Payne,	Teacher of Music
" Louisa Russell,	Teacher of Drawing
Mr. J. S. Preston,	Teacher of Writing
Miss Eliza B. Whipple,	Grammar School
" Samantha Wheeler,	"	"
" Edith E. Hulin,	"	"
" R. Anna Baird,	"	"
" Mary J. Sloat,	"	"
" Ella V. Holmes,	"	"
" Flora Van Campen,	"	"
" Kate F. Hubbard,	"	"
" Mary M. Draper,	Principal C. P. School
" Lizzie Otis,	Centre Primary School

Village Improvement Association.

A meeting of the Executive Committee was held at the Town Committee Rooms on Wednesday evening. President Gardner, Secretary Reford and Messrs, Coyle, Harvey, Osborn, Hopping, McDowell and Hardcastle were present. After drawing lots for classification of terms of service, the President appointed the following Committees: Membership, J. C Harvey, Elias S. Osborn, Benjamin Haskell, Geo. Roubaud and M. A. Dailey. Finance—Hopping, Hardcastle, N. H. Dodd, Halfpenny and Coyle. Sanitary Affairs—G. Lee Stout, J. C. Beach, John Sherman, H. E. Richards, C. H. Nash, [O. E. Michell and J. P. Scherff. Public Meetings—McDowell, Moffat, Wilde, Scherff and Marr.

A resolution was adopted, "That the Executive Committee recommend to the Association and the public at large that they patronize the Bloomfield Post Office with the view of increasing the revenue, thus securing a free delivery at an early date."

"That the Executive Committee recommend to the Association that the question for discussion at the August meeting be Incorporation.".

"That the Executive Committee recommend to the Association the appointment of a Committee to report on Glenwood Park and its surroundings."

The Committee request from the citizens of the town suggestions and communications on matters of public interest, the same to be sent through the mail to the Secretary.

The Committee adjourned to meet on the second Wednesday in August.

Postmaster Hayes.

Mr. T. E. Hayes received his appointment as Postmaster during the past week. The unsatisfactory manner in which the office was filled by his immediate predecessor gives Mr. Hayes a good opportunnity to improve the postal service. There is no reason except lack of energy and enterprise on the part of postmaster, that Bloomfield should be so far behind Montclair and East Orange in this branch of public business. Montclair's postmaster enjoys a salary of $2,400 per annum. The hearty co-operation of the citizens of this town with the postmaster would soon bring the Bloomfield office up up to the same level or about it. It is stated that the Village Improvement Association intend to take the lead in a movement to this effect, hoping to secure a system of free postal delivery.

Let It Float.

(From the Morris and Essex Record.)

The W. S. Pierson Post, of Bloomfield, have made a move in the right direction in presenting the High School with an American flag. May we live to see the day when the American flag will fly from the public buildings every day in the year. What more appropriate than that the free schools, an institution thoroughly American, should fly the American flag on all public occasions? May this flag aid to perpetuate the spirit of freedom, of truth, honor and trust, among men, may it inspire true love of our country, may it ever teach personal manhood and nobility of character, may it aid in the triumph of national righteousness and constitutional freedom.

BRIEF NOTES.

—The Town Committee meet Monday night.

—The work of macadamizing Beach street has commenced.

—Mr. G. W. Pancoast is erecting a new residence on Fremont street.

—Mr. F. S. Benson is erecting a new residence on Highland avenue.

—Mr. Wm. C. Carl and sister are at Sparta, N. J., for a few weeks stay.

The Essex County Building and Loan Association meets next Tuesday night.

—Mr. Thomas Moody will occupy the pulpit of the First Baptist Church tomorrow.

—Miss Carl has rented her house for two months to Mr. John McKelvey, of New York.

—Nimble boys have acquired the trick of climbing the high fence around Glenwood Park.

—The flag-stone sidewalk around the First Baptist Church is a decided improvement.

—The Bloomfield Building and Loan Association met on Monday night. $400 was sold at 4 per cent.

—Mrs. Mary Day, mother of Mr. Thos. P. Day, died in Brookdale on Sunday at the advanced age of 82.

—Miss Florence Ellison and Miss Grace Sleight, of Kingston, W. V., are the guests of Miss Annie Westlake.

—Calvary M. E. Church Sunday-School of East Orange, held their picnic in Glenwood Park on Wednesday.

—Mrs. E. R. Cleveland, of Franklin street left Bloomfield, Friday, for a visit to the Pacific slope. She will be absent several weeks.

—The question is asked—"What has become of the Bloomfield Athletic Club which had such a brilliant prospectus in the opening of the season?"

—It is rumored that an extensive tract of property on the west side of Glenwood avenue, belonging to Mr. Ackerman, of Orange, is to be made into a race-course.

—Austin Place is the name of a new street to be opened from Fremont street to Liberty street through property belonging to the estate of the late Dr. J. A. Davis.

—Rev. R. B. Collins of the Park M. E. Church, will address the Gospel Temperance meeting, Sunday afternoon, at the Pavilion near the D. L. & W. R. R.—4 to 5 o'clock

—Dr. John E. Wilson's absence from Bloomfield will not be as long as announced in THE CITIZEN last week. The Doctor expects to return by the 24th of the present month.

—The 160 acre farm at Pompton Plains belonging to the estate of the late Samuel G. Baxter, was sold at auction on Monday. Mr. G. W. Fuller, of Orange, bought it. He bid $6,000.

—The Rev. Charles DeWitt Brower, of Dowagiac, Mich., is on a visit to his old home and friends in Bloomfield. He will preach, by invitation, in the First Presbyterian Church to-morrow morning.

—Mr. Willard Richards, in company with Mr. Wm. H. Hogancamp, president of the Second National Bank, Jersey City, are about to leave for Mexico to inspect their mining property in that locality.

—The Orange Chronicle suggests a combination of the towns of Bloomfield, Montclair and Orange in the construction of a sewerage system, one that will be complete in its character and if needs be construct a conduit that will carry the offal to Newark Bay.

—At the meeting of the Board of Freeholders on Thursday, Freeholder Thomas McGowan, of Bloomfield, requested that a committee consisting of three non-residents of the townships of Bloomfield and Montclair be appointed to adjust the boundary line between the respective townships.

—A large elm tree on the Frelinghuysen place, corner of Watsessing and Bloomfield avenues, was struck by lightning on Thursday evening. The electric fluid ran down the tree stripping a piece of bark from the topmost branches down to the roots. The house adjoining the tree was badly shaken, the plaster being knocked from the walls and some of the wood work shattered.

—The Montclair Town Committee took definite steps in the direction of electric lighting on Monday night. It was decided to have lights erected on Bloomfield avenue. The Bloomfield Town Committee will be notified of such action and their co-operation sought. Messrs. Denby and Inness were authorized to spend $500 in procuring plans and information concerning sewerage.

—The Montclair Committee of One Hundred, whose activity keeps the saloon keepers of the town in a continual state of mental perturbation, has just issued a double page pamphlet publishing the names of each saloon keeper with their bonds and signers to their license application. The committee desire to obtain the co-operation of citizens in Bloomfield and Orange in their aggressive warfare against saloon keepers who violate the law.

—A tramp effected a daring and almost successful robbery in John Gee's Hotel, Willow street, on Tuesday. In the absence of the proprietor from the room the thief reached over the counter and robbed the cash drawer. He was discovered and chased. Contractor Frame who was near by jumped in his buggy and joined in the pursuit. The thief was soon overtaken and compelled to disgorge his ill-gotten gains after which he was released. He gave the name of John Flynn and said he lived in Orange. It was afterwards learned that he had just been released from the Caldwell Penitentiary where he had been confined for a year for stealing.

—The Hoboken terminus of the D. L. & W. R. R is no longer a collection of cheap looking sheds calculated to obliterate distinction in the reception of transportable articles, be it humanity, cattle or merchandise. Humanity, by means of its incessant protestations against the reflection on its dignity, has at last scored a victory and is now received in a palatial structure of ample dimensions and conveniences. The new depot was opened to the travelling public on Wednesday of this week. It is a white pine structure finished inside with antique oak. Its dimensions are 121x170 feet. The main waiting-room is 121x85 feet, and 45 feet clear in height. The total cost of the same, $250,000.

—Our Silver Lake friends inform us that the people of Bloomfield missed an opportunity to increase the wealth and importance of the town by their failure to help carry through the annexation scheme last winter. Silver Lake is on the eve of a boom. Thomas A. Edison has recently acquired considerable property there and is negotiating for more. It is said to be Mr Edison's intention to begin a series of extensive improvements. The ground adjoining the lake is to be put in order and made attractive and beautiful. A large phonograph factory is approaching completion on Belmont avenue. In view of these facts property is enhancing in value and the erection of a number of dwelling houses is being talked of.

—The Orange Y. M. C. A. baseball team who were defeated by the Bloomfield Association Club last Saturday, feel very much hurt over the result and threaten to contest the game before the League Committee. It is poor policy for the Orange players to do the "baby act" after being defeated. They played like men and should take the consequences like men. Their opportunity to protest was before the game commenced. They cannot truthfully say they were deceived as no attempt was made to practice deception on them. It is to be regretted that the hope of winning the championship pennant entertained by the Orange Club should be so ruthlessly dashed to the ground. Baseball is very uncertain. The Bloomfield Club started in the fight with equally high aspirations. The Summit team effectually squelched them early in the season. Bloomfield has no protest to make.

Watsessing.

—Mr. John Bland is erecting a new house on Willow street.

—Mr. Wm. Ellor is going to build a residence on Grace street.

—Mr. James Ellor is going to erect two houses on Grace street.

—Mr. C. H. Halfpenny returned from his visit to western Pennsylvannia on Monday.

—Mr. W. W. Tichenor has commenced the erection of a new house on Watsessing avenue.

—Mr. D. A. Ferguson has been absent during the week on a business trip to New Hampshire.

—The road committee have had men and teams at work on Watsessing avenue during the week.

—The Library Trustees met on Wednesday night. Business of a routine character was transacted.

—Mrs. Martha Pilch Coates, sister of Mr. F. H. Pilch, died suddenly at her home in Woodside on Saturday evening.

—Messrs. John Hyde and A. H. Edgerly are going to put down a flagstone sidewalk in front of their property on Myrtle street.

—The Y. M. C. A baseball nine will play the Jersey City Association on Saturday afternoon on the Watsessing grounds.

—The Watsessing Junior Athletics defeated the East Orange Stars on Monday and Tuesday. Scores 15 to 9 and 21 to 11.

—The Social Guild of the Watsessing M. E. Church will meet at the parsonage on Lawrence street, on Wednesday evening.

—The Watsessing Choral Union will meet at the residence of Miss Hattie Bradley, Watsessing avenue, next Thursday evening.

—Prospect Hose Company held their regular business meeting on Thursday evening. James Ellor was elected to active membership.

—A feature of the gospel temperance meeting in Prospect Hall was the reading of an original poem by Mr. Emmons Corby of Bloomfield.

—Wm. H. Cook has presented Active Hose Company with a finely finished cedar flag pole. It will be erected on the summit of the bell tower.

—Mr. Curry, who chopped down the large maple tree at the corner of Watsessing avenue and Grace street, says the tree was nearly sixty years old.

—Ladies from the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Newark, will conduct the gospel temperance meeting in Prospect Hall next Sunday afternoon.

—An ice cream festival under the auspices of the building fund committee, of the Watsessing M. E. Church will be held in Prospect Hall next Friday evening. Ice cream, cake, candy, etc., will be served.

—A well has been driven at the Watsessing station of the D. L. & W. R. R. The depth is 50 feet. This will prove of great convenience to the ticket agent who has been compelled to carry water for domestic and public use from a distance.

—Prospect Hose Company were given a trial run by Chief Mills, on Thursday night. The alarm was given for Springdale avenue and Prospect street. The Company was on the ground and in working order in seven minutes. The alarm caught the members unawares.

—The recent crushing defeats in Pennsylvannia, Massachusetts, and Rhode Island has had no effect on the members of the 10th assembly district Probibition club No 1. They held a mass meeting in Prospect Hall on Monday night. Chas. H. Crow of New York, delivered an address, earnestly exhorting the faithful.

—The Orange Y. M. C. A. base ball team came to Watsessing last Saturday afternoon with a carefully selected and unusually strong nine to meet the Bloomfield Y. M. C. A. The orange boys played a good game but their opponents were too much for them. The game was high ly interesting throughout and won by Bloomfield—10 to 8.

Committed to Jail.

Mrs. Mary McNamara indulged in one of her periodical outbreaks on Tuesday and terrorized the residents of Bloomfield avenue and Orange street. On complaint preferred against her by her son, Justice Wm R Hall issued a warrant, which was served by Officer Foster. Mrs. McNamara was brought before the Justice, who, after lecturing her on her incorrigibility and the failure of past imprisonments to reform her, imposed the severe sentence of 90 days in jail, $10 fine, and the costs of the court. The severity of the sentence had a sobering effect on the woman and she begged to have it modified, promising to reform and lead a quiet and peaceable life. The Justice partially granted her request and lessened her term of imprisonment 30 days. In dealing with this woman in this severe manner the Justice was acting in accordance with instructions from the Town Committee before whom a complaint had been lodged against her by her neighbors. The Committee will now have an opportunity to bring the matter before the Grand Jury. Mrs. McNamara's dissolute habits have rendered her notorious and she has been repeatedly arrested. Her last outbreak was due to the arrival of friends from Ireland. In entertaining her guests the bottle was too frequently passed around. It has been suggested that the Town Committee make out a prescribed list of the frequent offenders against the peace of the town and serve it on the saloon kaepers. It might possibly have the effect of preventing them from getting so boisterously drunk.

Making The Welkin Ring.

L. S. Plaut & Co., of Newark Bee Hive fame, do not allow any summer lethargy to retard the rolling on of their immense establishment for "other worlds to conquer."

Up and at it all the time. A systematic planning and working to accomplish their purpose of making their great business greater, to keep their well known house before the people as the largest and leading one in New Jersey, and as the lowest priced selling house in the land.

This firm by their conscientious adherance to advertised utterance have secured the good will and confidence of the entire state, and we doubt whether there is a city, town, village, or a hamlet within the confines of New Jersey in which the Newark Bee Hive is not a household word for reliability and all that the word conveys.

One of the principles under which this firm conducts its business is the determination of never holding goods over from one season to another.

With the beginning of every business half year, all stock must be new. Nothing must be shown twice in the successive years. To attain thorough cleaning out of merchandise they inaugurate in the height of seasons mammoth sacrifice clearing sales, always made remarkable by the offering of their entire stock at prices regardless of original cost or of the loss of profit entailed thereby.

In another part of the paper our readers can see that such a sale of all surplus summer wear will begin on next Monday morning, and from the past experience of our townspeople who have attended heretofore, it goes without saying that they will avail themselves once more of the pecuniary savings that can be made by purshasing now at reduced prices.

Parties desiring to have uphostering done, mattresses made over, new and old carpets sewed and laid, or furniture of all descriptions made to order, will find it to their advantage to address or call upon John Poecker, who will gaurantee first-class work and give best of reference. Office and shop in Pillsbury building Bloomfield avenue, Montclair, P. O. Box 564.

Sapristi! Morbleu!

It is curious that we are quite unable to realize the enormity of some of the commonest continental oaths. We can, of course, to a certain extent, appraise such terms as Sacre, Sapristi and Morbleu (euphemistic for Mort Dieu), but, on the other hand, we wholly fail to appreciate the swearing value of Mille tonnerres and Tausend Donnerwetter. Even though these latter be regarded as an invocation of Thor, the god of thunder and summer heat, we cannot see anything very dreadful or juratory in them. Anglicized they become perfectly harmless, and would indeed be welcomed in the room of some of our own more opprobrious idioms. "Thunder" or even "Thunder and lightning!" we consider a very temperate exclamation; so, too, thought the author of the tragic story of the "Bagman's Dog," which may be consulted with advantage on this head.

Applying the Johnsonian maxim of "claret for boys, port for men, and brandy for heroes," we should certainly be inclined to class either or both of them with the claret, nay, even with the yet milder variety of Gladstonian claret, a vintage happily unknown to the learned doctor. To our insular minds they convey absolutely no idea of impropriety. We might go about Donnerwettering for a month together, and not feel one atom the better for it, or the worse; while our character for propriety and decent speech would not be one whit damaged, whatever might be thought of our sanity. The German soul, however, is conscious of a distinct sense of relief after a judicious indulgence in the same pastime. Hence we are confronted by the strange paradox that what is a round oath in one country is not even a smart ejaculation in the next.—Macmillan's Magazine.
